Comic Relief

Thank you all for supporting our efforts in raising money for Comic Relief today and a huge thank you to our school council for planning the day and organising us all! The total at the moment stands at just over £300 but we haven't yet added on the cake sale total so we expect this to be significantly more which is just brilliant! You are all beginning to come more familiar with our 'Upton Meadows Way' curriculum and days like today embody and enact all of our school rules and values, particularly those of kindness, cooperation and responsibility – as I wrote last week, responsibility is recognising that we all have a part to play in making our school and the world a better place: Comic Relief allows us to do that.
